

ICIA MEDIA DIGITAL PROGRAMMES INTERN

A new internship opportunity has recently become available in the Digital Programmes department at the ICIA. Starting in mid May, this opportunity will be flexible but ideally for a three month period. Although unpaid, this opportunity would provide someone with both an interest in art and new media the chance to work alongside leading professionals in the sector and to develop their new media skills. Travel expenses are covered as a part of the internship.

Digital Programmes is part of the ICIA Media division which was set up in July 2005 in response to changes in technology, and the ways in which people engage with contemporary culture. Tate Media delivers world-class content across a range of media, including online, print and events. The Digital Programmes team is responsible for commissioning and producing digital content, building on ICIA's Collection, expertise, brand and other assets.

Main Activities and Responsibilities

The digital programmes intern will be trained in archiving images and maintaining the ICIA online website. In addition to this, they will be involved in several long term projects, which will provide project management skills. Desirable qualities would be strong IT skills, organisational skills, good written English, an interest in web content and image manipulation. Skills which will be gained throughout the internship include:

- Photoshop skills, including image optimisation for the Web
- An understanding of website management and content delivery
- Experience using a website content management system
- The opportunity make a lasting contribution to the Indian art world
- Experience working as part of a team in a dynamic environment
